

Climbing the Corporate Ladder While Creating Flexibility in the Workplace

The landscape of the American workforce has changed dramatically—now more than ever, more career professionals are caring for children or the elderly, juggling both work and school, or working more than one job to make ends meet. It's time for the workplace to start meeting the needs of the 21st Century workforce so that working families and businesses can be more productive, more competitive, healthier, and happier.

The Orange County Chapter of the American Society of Women Accountants would like to invite you to our next dinner meeting, where our guest speaker, Jennifer McGowan, will share her knowledge and experience creating flexible workplace solutions within a Big 4 environment.
